Finding Your Element Sir Ken Robinson, PhD 2014-05-27 The New York Times bestselling author of The Element gives readers an inspirational and practical guide to self-improvement, happiness, creativity, and personal transformation. You, Your Child, and School is forthcoming from Viking. Sir Ken Robinson's TED talk video and groundbreaking book, The Element, introduced readers to a new concept of self-fulfillment through the convergence of natural talents and personal passions. The Element has inspired readers all over the world and has created for Robinson an intensely devoted following. Now comes the long-awaited companion, the practical guide that helps people find their own Element. Among the questions that this new book answers are: • How do I find out what my talents and passions are? • What if I love something I'm not good at? • What if I'm good at something I don't love? • What if I can't make a living from my Element? • How do I do help my children find their Element? Finding Your Element comes at a critical time as concerns about the economy, education and the environment continue to grow. The need to connect to our personal talents and passions has never been greater. As Robinson writes in his introduction, wherever you are, whatever you do, and no matter how old you are, if you're searching for your Element, this book is for you.

Imagine If . . . Sir Ken Robinson, PhD 2022-03-01 A call to action that pulls together all of Sir Ken Robinson's key messages and philosophies, and that challenges and empowers readers to re-imagine our world, and our systems, for the better. Sir Ken Robinson changed the lives of millions of people. The embodiment of the prestigious TED conference, his TED Talks are watched an average of 17,000 times a day--a figure that Chris Anderson, Head of TED, says is the equivalent of selling out the Millennium Dome every night for fifteen consecutive years. A New York Times bestselling author, Sir Ken's books have been translated into twenty four languages. In his final years, Sir Ken was working on a book that would serve as his manifesto. This book was being written for both new and dedicated audiences alike as a coherent overview of the arguments that he dedicated his life to, and as a pivotal piece of literature for the education revolution he began. When Sir Ken received his cancer prognosis in August 2020 he asked his daughter and collaborator, Kate Robinson, to finish writing this manifesto and continue his work. At its core, Sir Ken's work is a love letter to human potential--a celebration of what we as a species are capable of doing, and of being, if we create the right conditions. It is a rallying cry to revolutionize our systems of education, and the ways in which we run our businesses and structure our social systems, so that they bring out the best in each and every person. Sir Ken often observed that what separates us from the rest of life on Earth is our power of imagination: the ability to bring to mind things that are not present to our senses. It is imagination that allows us to create the world in which we live, rather than just exist in it. It also gives us the power to recreate it.

Creating Tomorrow's Schools Today Richard Gerver 2010-04-08 Drawing on the incredible story of Grange Primary School, Gerver argues that our education system no longer works for today's generation of learners.

Creatividad e innovación a debate Diversos autores 2021-03-21 Este libro nace de la necesidad de compilar, didácticamente, la mayor parte de la literatura existente en torno al debate entre innovación y creatividad, en torno a los individuos y colectivos altamente originales; individuos que inventan, que innovan, y a fin también de generar ecosistemas abiertos a investigaciones que fomenten que las personas implicadas en ellas desarrollen y apliquen sus capacidades creativas. Por ello, desde esta monografía se pretende ofrecer elementos para una perspectiva teórica de investigación colaborativa que incorpore una mirada abierta a la creatividad y a la innovación. De ahí que sus autores han compilado las aportaciones más relevantes de esta literatura, mostrando cómo se produce el pensamiento innovador, cómo se inventa y se reinventa el pensamiento creativo.

La escuela ante el espejo Javier Bahón Gómez 2019-06-03 La escuela como tal es un concepto abstracto. Lo que tiene existencia real es cada escuela, ubicada en un terreno determinado, habitada por personas concretas, y perteneciente a un entorno social específico. Esa es la que debería verse en el espejo para comprobar en qué medida sus alumnos están siendo debidamente atendidos. Pero ¿qué ve al mirarse? ¿Se ve tal cual es o como se imagina que es, o como querría ser? ¿Con qué criterio interpreta lo que ve? Proliferan métodos, conceptos e instrumentos que, pretendiendo convertirse en panaceas educativas, tienen una vida muy efímera. Es preciso distinguir en el espejo aquellas innovaciones valiosas capaces de trazar un rumbo distinto para cada alumno que haga posible su desarrollo intelectual, afectivo y ético.

Democracy and Education John Dewey 1916 John Dewey's Democracy and Education addresses the challenge of providing quality public education in a democratic society. In this classic work Dewey calls for the complete renewal of public education, arguing for the fusion of vocational and contemplative studies in education and for the necessity of universal education for the advancement of self and society. First published in 1916, Democracy and Education is regarded as the seminal work on public education by one of the most important scholars of the century.

critical schooling options and controversies, You, Your Child, and School is a key book for parents to learn about the kind of education their children really need and what they can do to make sure they get it.

Rules for Radicals Saul Alinsky 2010-06-30 First published in 1971, Rules for Radicals is Saul Alinsky's impassioned counsel to young radicals on how to effect constructive social change and know "the difference between being a realistic radical and being a rhetorical one." Written in the midst of radical political developments whose direction Alinsky was one of the first to question, this volume exhibits his style at its best. Like Thomas Paine before him, Alinsky was able to combine, both in his person and his writing, the intensity of political engagement with an absolute insistence on rational political discourse and adherence to the American democratic tradition.

Bibliografía sobre marxismo y revolución 1978 "Bibliografía sobre marxismo y revolución", es un intento de abordar de forma sistemática toda la producción marxista con comentarios críticos de todas las obras de los padres fundadores del materialismo histórico y dialéctico. Textos de K. Marx, F. Engels, V. I. Lenin, J. Stalin, L- Trotsky, Mao, Rosa Luxemburgo, A Gramsci, etc. aparecen a lo largo de esta edición. El libro está estructurado por áreas concretas para hacerlo inteligible e instrumento práctico para los lectores. Por esta razón, en cada uno de los temas sociología y marxismo (Lorenzo Díaz Sánchez y Gabriel Albiac), filosofía (Jesús G. Requena), economía (Alberto Fernández Torres), etc., sus autores han intentado justificar la estructuración que han llevado a cabo. Esto son algunos de los grandes temas abordados en el texto: marxismo y clases sociales, La Escuela de Frankfurt, Marxismo e ideología, Sobre Hegel y los jóvenes hegelianos, humanismo y alienación, sobre la génesis del marxismo, sobre El Capital, dialéctica, lógica y teoría del conocimiento, el marxismo y el Estado, sobre el historicismo, etc. "Bibliografía sobre el marxismo y revolución, recoge temas específicos relacionados con España abordados desde una óptica genuinamente marxista. Seis apéndices complementan el texto: Revistas y publicaciones, Bibliografía sobre la Guerra Civil española, Marxismo y feminismo (Fini Rubio y Violeta Demonte), cine y revolución (Javier Maqua), y bibliografía sobre pensamiento antiautoritario (Campo Abierto).

Educational Research: Discourses of Change and Changes of Discourse Paul Smeyers 2016-05-26 This collection addresses concepts and theories of change, contexts and functions of reform discourses, and fields of change in educational research. It examines a wide variety of issues such as girls' education in France, educational neuroscience, the professionalization in Child Protection, and mathematics discourses. It pays attention to the pervasiveness of crisis rhetoric in American Education Research, to the current university climate, and to perspectives for teacher education. The volume presents in-depth studies that integrate the perspective of history and philosophy of education. Educational research has been typically carried out within a discourse of change: changing educational practice, changing policy, or changing the world. Sometimes these expectations have been grand, as in claims of emancipation; sometimes they have been more modest, as in research as a support for specific reforms. This book explores the answers to such questions as: Are these expectations justified? How have these discourses of change themselves changed over time? What have researchers meant by change, and related concepts such as reform, improvement, innovation, progress and the new? Does this teleological and hopeful discourse itself reflect a particular historical and national/cultural point of view? Is it over promising for educational research to claim to solve social problems, and are these properly understood as educational problems? In doing so, it challenges prevailing ideas about the application of philosophy and history of education, and demonstrates the relevance of philosophical and historical approaches for the practice and theory of education and for educational research. This publication, as well as the ones that are mentioned in the preliminary pages of this work, were realized by the Research Community (FWO Vlaanderen / Research Foundation Flanders, Belgium) Philosophy and History of the Discipline of Education: Faces and Spaces of Educational Research.

The Fourth Industrial Revolution Klaus Schwab 2017-01-03 World-renowned economist Klaus Schwab, Founder and Executive Chairman of the World Economic Forum, explains that we have an opportunity to shape the fourth industrial revolution, which will fundamentally alter how we live and work. Schwab argues that this revolution is different in scale, scope and complexity from any that have come before. Characterized by a range of new technologies that are fusing the physical, digital and biological worlds, the developments are affecting all disciplines, economies, industries and governments, and even challenging ideas about what it means to be human. Artificial intelligence is already all around us, from supercomputers, drones and virtual assistants to 3D printing, DNA sequencing, smart thermostats, wearable sensors and microchips smaller than a grain of sand. But this is just the beginning: nanomaterials 200 times stronger than steel and a million times thinner than a strand of hair and the first transplant of a 3D printed liver are already in development. Imagine “smart factories” in which global systems of manufacturing are coordinated virtually, or implantable mobile phones made of biosynthetic materials. The fourth industrial revolution, says Schwab, is more significant, and its ramifications more profound, than in any prior period of human history. He outlines the key technologies driving this revolution and discusses the major impacts expected on government, business, civil society and individuals. Schwab also offers bold ideas on how to harness these changes and shape a better future—one in which technology empowers people rather than replaces them; progress serves society rather than disrupts it; and in which innovators respect moral and ethical boundaries rather than cross them. We all have the opportunity to contribute to developing new frameworks that advance progress.

Out of Our Minds Ken Robinson 2017-11-13 Creativity is critical. Out of Our Minds explores creativity: its value in business, its ubiquity in children, its perceived absence in many adults and the phenomenon through which it disappears – and offers a groundbreaking approach for getting it back. Author Sir Ken Robinson is an internationally recognised authority on creativity, and his TED talk on the subject is the most watched video in TED's history. In this book, Sir Ken argues that organisations everywhere are struggling to fix a problem that originates in schools and universities. Organisations everywhere are competing in a world that changes in the blink of an eye – they need people who are flexible enough to adapt, and creative enough to find novel solutions to problems old and new. Out of Our Minds describes how schools, businesses and communities can work together to bring creativity out of the closet and realise its inherent value at every stage of life. This new third edition has been updated to reflect changing technologies and demographics, with updated case studies and coverage of recent changes to education. Only by actively fostering creativity can businesses unlock those doors and achieve their true potential. This book will help you to: Understand the importance of actively promoting creativity and innovation. Discover why creativity stagnates somewhere between childhood and adulthood. Learn how to re-awaken dormant creativity to help your business achieve more. Explore ways in which we can work together to keep creativity alive for everyone. Modern business absolutely demands creativity of thought and action. We're all creative as children – so where does it go? When do we lose it? Out of Our Minds has the answers, and clear solutions for getting it back.

LSD, My Problem Child Albert Hofmann 2005 This is the story of LSD told by a concerned yet hopeful father, organic chemist Albert Hofmann. He traces LSD's path from a promising psychiatric research medicine to a recreational drug sparking hysteria and prohibition. We follow Dr. Hofmann's trek across Mexico to discover sacred plants related to LSD, and listen in as he corresponds with other notable figures about his remarkable discovery. Underlying it all is Dr. Hofmann's powerful conclusion that mystical experience may be our planet's best hope for survival. Whether induced by LSD, meditation, or arising spontaneously, such experiences help us to comprehend the wonder, the mystery of the divine in the microcosm of the atom, in the macrocosm of the spiral nebula, in the seeds of plants, in the body and soul of people. Now, more than sixty years after the birth of Albert Hofmann's problem child, his vision of its true potential is more relevant, and more needed, than ever.

Dancing Across Borders Charlotte Svendler Nielsen 2019-12-06 Dancing Across Borders presents formal and non-formal settings of dance education where initiatives in different countries transcend borders: cultural and national borders, subject borders, professional borders and socio-economic borders. It includes chapters featuring different theoretical perspectives on dance and cultural diversity, alongside case narratives that show these perspectives in a specific cultural setting. In this way, each section charts the processes, change and transformation in the lives of young people through dance. Key themes include how student learning is enhanced by cultural diversity, experiential teaching and learning involving social, cross-cultural and personal dimensions. This conceptually aligns with the current UNESCO protocols that accent empathy, creativity, cooperation, collaboration alongside skills- and knowledge-based learning in an endeavour to create civic mindedness and a more harmonious world. This volume is an invaluable resource for teachers, policy makers, artists and scholars interested in pedagogy, choreography, community dance practice, social and cultural studies, aesthetics and interdisciplinary arts. By understanding the impact of these cross-border collaborative initiatives, readers can better understand, promote and create new ways of thinking and working in the field of dance education for the benefit of new generations.
