The Rejection of Consequentialism Samuel Scheffler 1994-08-11 In contemporary philosophy, substantive moral theories are typically classified as either consequentialist or deontological. Standard consequentialist theories insist, roughly, that agents must always act so as to produce the best available outcomes overall. Standard deontological theories, by contrast, maintain that there are some circumstances where one is permitted but not required to produce the best overall results, and still other circumstances in which one is positively forbidden to do so. Classical utilitarianism is the most familiar consequentialist view, but it is widely regarded as an inadequate account of morality. Although Professor Scheffler agrees with this assessment, he also believes that consequentialism seems initially plausible, and that there is a persistent air of paradox surrounding typical deontological views. In this book, therefore, he undertakes to reconsider the rejection of consequentialism. He argues that it is possible to provide a rationale for the view that agents need not always produce the best possible overall outcomes, and this motivates one departure from consequentialism; but he shows that it is surprisingly difficult to provide a satisfactory rationale for the view that there are times when agents must not produce the best possible overall outcomes. He goes on to argue for a hitherto neglected type of moral conception, according to which agents are always permitted, but not always required, to produce the best outcomes.

Jean de Florette Marcel Pagnol 1988 Tells the story of Jean de Florette, a 35-year-old, city-bred, hunchbacked idealist, his wife, Aimee, and his daughter, Manon. In the second novel, Manon seeks revenge for her father's death, and it is she who brings the wheel full circle in a final dramatic retribution in the town square.

Old Granny Fox Thornton Waldo Burgess 1920 When a deep winter snow carpets the Green Forest and nearby meadow, Granny Fox and Reddy have some disagreements on how best to find some food. But Granny - with her years of experience - wins out over Reddy and teaches him quite a bit about patience, common sense, and resourcefulness.

Post-Mortem Journal Communications from Lawrence of Arabia Through the Mediumship of Jane Sherwood Jane Sherwood 2009-07 There is probably no stranger nor more controversial book that Jane Sherwood's report, through automatic writing, of the identity of a communicator from the other side of the grave who chose to call himself 'Scott'. After many years of enforced silence, as a result of a solemn promise given to Scott, Jane Sherwood reveals his true identity, namely, Colonel T. E. Lawrence (Lawrence of Arabia). Post-Mortem Journal opens at the moment of Lawrence's death when he finds himself lying at the roadside by his shattered motorbike, unaware that he is actually 'dead'. It continues over the years and shows us the development and salvation of a tortured and guilty man who, for the first time, is forced into admitting his weaknesses and vanities during his earthly life and is only now able to come to terms with himself. Such revelations are both harrowing and magnificent. 'As to the validity', says Jane Sherwood, 'of the information contained in "Scott's" journal I can only vouch for my own honesty; what I have received is here set down without addition or modification. The readers must judge of its probability for themselves.'

Captain Fracasse Théophile Gautier 1902 The novel recounts the story of the baron of Sigognac during the reign of Louis XIII of France (reign 1610-1643), a destitute nobleman who decides to abandon his castle to join a theatrical troupe out of love for a young actress. Leaving his castle in the care of a faithful old steward, he travels with the actors to Paris; his aim being also to meet the king in Paris to ask for financial help in memory of services rendered by his ancestors. When one of the actors dies, the baron replaces him in the company's productions, taking the stage name of Captain Fracasse and, against his proud nature, acting the part of a bumbling military man. He develops humility through the experience, and this in turn deepens his loving relationship with the ingénue.

Prk-1u Grigori Grabovoi 2021-08-13 30 Controls for the PRK-1U, was created by Dr. Grigori Grabovoi, based on his great scientific research and his registered patents. There are no analog devices in the world. The device will be configured according to the personal parameters of those who sign a contract when acquire the device or by using it Online 24/7 at IVIDEON platform. By concentrating on the device, it is possible to develop one's own consciousness to be able to control events (including health) in order to improve them, develop clairvoyance, and be able to design favorable future events. The device was designed to develop the following concentration types: Concentration for any event or situation (including health) Concentration to rejuvenate Concentration for the development and clairvoyance control Concentration for the forecasting control development Concentration for the Eternal Life Development The strength of concentrations and the development of consciousness due to the concentration, is the same. But the physical device has an advantage: when the device is turned on, the person who is at 3 meters distance and is the one who was configured in the device, will take to the norm all its events, even if that person is not concentrated. Why the person has to be concentrated if the physical device is turned on and taking to the norm the events? Because when it is concentrated, the consciousness of the person is being developed and if the consciousness is developed, the person can take to the norm its own events without the device, and besides will develop the clairvoyance.
