Restorative Justice in Urban Schools Anita Wadhwa 2015-11-19 The school-to-prison pipeline is often the path for marginalized students, particularly black males, who are three times as likely to be suspended as White students. This volume provides an ethnographic portrait of how educators can implement restorative justice to build positive school cultures and address disciplinary problems in a more corrective and less punitive manner. Looking at the school-to-prison pipeline in a historical context, it analyzes current issues facing schools and communities and ways that restorative justice can improve behavior and academic achievement. By practicing a critical restorative justice, educators can reduce the domino effect between suspension and incarceration and foster a more inclusive school climate.

Sciences et pratiques pénitentiaires en France XIXe - XXe siècles Hinda Hedhili-Azema 2014-10-01 La discipline pénitentiaire désigne plusieurs réalités. La doctrine conçoit le système pénitentiaire comme une science nouvelle, inaugurant un système pénal juste, bon, moral, dépouillé des archaïsmes de l'Ancien Régime. La revendication principale de pénitentiaristes reste celle de l'abolition de la déportation et de la peine de mort, préconisant leur remplacement par le système pénitentiaire. Puis la philosophie pénitentiaire revendique le droit à l'éducation, à l'instruction et au travail tout en maintenant un objectif premier d'humanité.

Beyond Retribution Christopher D. Marshall 2001 Recently a growing number of Christians have actively promoted the concept of "restorative justice" and attempted to develop programs for dealing with crime based on restorative principles. But is this approach truly consistent with the teaching of Scripture? To date, very little has been done to test this claim. Beyond Retribution fills a gap by plumbing the New Testament on the topics of crime, justice, and punishment. Christopher Marshall first explores the problems involved in applying ethical teachings from the New Testament to mainstream society. He then surveys the extent to which the New Testament addresses criminal justice issues, looking in particular at the concept of the justice of God in the teachings of Paul and Jesus. He also examines the topic of punishment, reviewing the debate in social thinking over the ethics and purpose of punishment -- including capital punishment -- and he advocates a new concept of "restorative punishment." The result of this engaging work is a biblically based challenge to imitate the way of Christ in dealing with both victims and offenders.

Restoring Justice Daniel W. Van Ness 2014-02-01 Restoring Justice: An Introduction to Restorative Justice offers a clear and convincing explanation of restorative justice, a movement within criminal justice with growing worldwide influence. It explores the broad appeal of this new vision and offers a brief history of its development. The book presents a theoretical foundation for the principles and values of restorative justice and develops its four cornerpost ideas of encounter, amends, inclusion and reintegration. After exploring how restorative justice ideas and values may be integrated into policy and practice, it presents a series of key issues commonly raised about restorative justice, summarizing various perspectives on each.

Changing Lenses Howard Zehr 2015-06-01 Does the criminal justice system actually help victims and offenders? What does justice look like for those who have been harmed? For those who have done harm? Twenty-five years after it was first published, Changing Lenses by Howard Zehr remains the classic text of the restorative justice field. Now with valuable author updates on the changing landscape of restorative justice and a new section of resources for practitioners and teachers, Changing Lenses offers a framework for understanding crime, injury, accountability, and healing from a restorative perspective. Uncovering widespread assumptions about crime, the courts, retributive justice, and the legal process, Changing Lenses offers provocative new paradigms and proven alternatives for public policy and judicial reform. What's New in the Twenty-Fifth Anniversary Edition: Author updates of terminology, paradigms, and recommended reading Foreword by restorative justice practitioner Sujatha Baliga New resources for teachers, facilitators, and practitioners

La justice restaurative Robert Cario 2010 La 4ème de couv. indique : "Un peu partout dans le monde, la justice restaurative (ou raparatrice) connaît un réel succès, tant auprès des personnes directement concernées par le crime que des acteurs socio-judiciaires chargés d'en gérer les multiples facettes. Par le souci qu'elle a de tous, elle invite infracteur, victime, proches, membres des communautés concernées à envisager, ensemble, les conséquences et répercussions du crime éprouvé et à trouver, ensemble, les solutions, équitables pour tous, de sortie du conflit. Son avènement demeure encore timide en France, alors même que son intégration n'est envisageable, pour les crimes et délits graves, qu'à l'intérieur même du Système de justice pénale actuel. Une telle complémentarité est aujourd'hui en marche au travers de la médiation et la réparation pénale à l'égard des mineurs par exemple. Les contributions rassemblées dans cet ouvrage ouvrent de nouvelles pistes au travers des Conférences du groupe familial, des rencontres restauratives post-sentencielles, des cercles de soutien et de responsabilité notamment. Prometteuse d'une Oeuvre de Justice plus humaine et plus équitable, la Justice restaurative poursuit un triple objectif, de manière cumulative : resocialisation de l'infracteur, réparation de la victime et rétablissement de la paix sociale. Par une combinaison harmonieuse avec les programmes de prévention, la lutte contre le phénomène criminel devient concrètement bien plus efficace, sans utopie aucune."

Restorative Justice in Practice Joanna Shapland 2011-07-15 Restorative justice has made significant progress in recent years and now plays an increasingly important role in and alongside the criminal justice systems of a number of countries in different parts of the world. In many cases, however, successes and failures, strengths and weaknesses have not been evaluated sufficiently systematically and comprehensively, and it has been difficult to gain an accurate picture of its implementation and the lessons to be drawn from this. Restorative Justice in Practice addresses this need, analyzing the results of the implementation of three restorative justice schemes in England and Wales in the largest and most complete trial of restorative justice with adult offenders worldwide. It aims to bring out the practicalities of setting up and running restorative justice schemes in connection with criminal justice, the costs of doing so and the key professional and ethical issues involved. At the same time the book situates these findings within the growing international academic and policy debates about restorative justice, addressing a number of key issues for criminal justice and penology, including: how far victim expectations of justice are and can be met by restorative justice aligned with criminal justice whether 'community' is involved in restorative justice for adult offenders and how this relates to social capital how far restorative justice events relate to processes of desistance (giving up crime), promote reductions in reoffending and link to resettlement what stages of criminal justice may be most suitable for restorative justice and how this relates to victim and offender needs the usefulness of conferencing and mediation as forms of restorative justice with adults. Restorative Justice in Practice will be essential reading for both students and practitioners, and a key contribution to the restorative justice debate.

Vingt ans de justice internationale pénale Diane Bernard 2015-06-01 Un bilan du droit pénal international dressé par des spécialistes juridiques Vingt ans après la création du Tribunal pénal international pour l'ex-Yougoslavie, quinze ans après la signature du Statut de la Cour pénale internationale, vingt ans aussi après l'adoption de la première mouture de la loi belge de la compétence universelle (et dix depuis sa modification drastique), le moment a paru venu pour la Revue de dresser un dossier-bilan du droit des crimes les plus graves. Ce dossier s'articule autour de quatre thèmes: 1. les compétences juridictionnelles et interactions entre ordres juridiques; 2. les incriminations et formes de responsabilité; 3. quelques éléments de procédure et 4. mises en contexte. Cette structure reflète les intérêts des auteurs et praticiens actuels qui ont répondu très nombreux à notre appel à contributions; les textes ici rassemblés sont issus d'une sélection sévère et contribuent chacun à notre « bilan » par une approche originale. À vingt ans, entre errements et réalisations concrètes, le droit international pénal vient de prendre le large, sur une mer mauvaise et à bord d'un navire encore en construction ; il a essuyé ses premières tempêtes mais son équipage souque ferme. Ce dossier permet de passer en revue les crimes les plus graves présentés à la Cour pénale internationale depuis sa création

Droit pénal des mineurs et justice restaurative Jessica Filippi 2021-08-27 Dans la continuité de sa thèse intitulée « Droit pénal des mineurs et justice restaurative. Approche comparée franco-belge », Jessica Filippi envisage au travers de sa réflexion la justice restaurative comme un élément du système pénal et souhaite comprendre l'existence d'obstacles et de points d'ancrage à son développement. Médiation et jeunesse Jean Mirimanoff 2013-09-09 Les conflits font partie de la vie. Adultes comme enfants y sont confrontés. La réponse privilégiée tant par les personnes que par les institutions est le recours au tribunal ou à la force. Pour leur permettre d'être entendus ou pour leur apprendre à prévenir la violence et à gérer les conflits, la médiation ouvre aux mineurs une nouvelle voie qui est encore largement méconnue, donc sous utilisée. C'est pour la faire connaître et en encourager l'accès que le présent ouvrage offre un panorama, pour plusieurs pays, de pratiques novatrices. La médiation familiale offre un espace possible aux enfants et adolescents : comment sont-ils concrètement accueillis, avec quelles précautions, compétences, et garanties déontologiques ? Comment concilier la place participative de l'enfant avec la responsabilité des adultes de décider de leur sort ? La médiation en milieu scolaire présente une très grande diversité d'expériences pour atteindre un objectif primordial : au-delà de la lutte contre la violence, comment permettre aux jeunes de prendre confiance en eux et de devenir des citoyens responsables ? La médiation pénale des mineurs s'adresse aux victimes et aux auteurs de violence : comment permettre à ces adolescents de se situer dans une approche plus restauratrice que punitive, et d'œuvrer pour un lien social réparé ? Le présent ouvrage auquel ont contribué 44 spécialistes issus de 9 pays (Algérie, Belgique, Canada, Côte d'Ivoire, France, Liban, Luxembourg, Maroc et Suisse) s'adresse à tous ceux que ce thème implique : les jeunes, les parents, les enseignants, les travailleurs sociaux, les psychologues, les avocats, les médiateurs, les magistrats, les éducateurs et le personnel d'encadrement éducatif et les autorités concernées (Ministères de la Jeunesse, de la Justice, de la Famille, de l'Éducation nationale et de la Santé).

Religious Diversity in European Prisons Irene Becci 2015-06-09 This book examines how prisons meet challenges of religious diversity, in an era of increasing multiculturalism and globalization. Social scientists studying corrections have noted the important role that religious or spiritual practice can have on rehabilitation, particularly for inmates with coping with stress, mental health and substance abuse issues. In the past, the historical figure of the prison chaplain operated primarily in a Christian context, following primarily a Christian model. Increasingly, prison populations (inmates as well as employees) display diversity in their ethnic, cultural, religious and geographic backgrounds. As public institutions, prisons are compelled to uphold the human rights of their inmates, including religious freedom. Prisons face challenges in approaching religious plurality and secularism, and maintaining prisoners' legal rights to religious freedom. The contributions to this work present case studies that examine how prisons throughout Europe have approached challenges of religious diversity. Featuring contributions from the UK, France, Italy, Germany, Switzerland, The Netherlands, Belgium and Spain, this interdisciplinary volume includes contributions from social and political scientists, religion scholars and philosophers examining the role of religion and religious diversity in prison rehabilitation. It will be of interest to researchers in Criminology and Criminal Justice, Social and Political Science, Human Rights, Public Policy, and Religious Studies.

Penal Systems Michael Cavadino 2005-10-26 'Cavadino and Dignan's Penal Systems: A Comparative Approach looks across national boundaries to see how penal systems differ and why. It is hands-down the most comprehensive and up-to-date book on the subject and should become a staple textbook for use in law and social science courses on comparative penal policy and practice' - Michael H. Tonry, University of Minnesota 'This book is an important addition to the literature on punishment. It is a highly readable and very well researched overview of some of the major differences in punitiveness between neo-liberal, corporatist and social democratic countries... This is a major contribution to comparative penology by two of the leading authors in this field' - Alison Liebling, Director of the Prisons Research Centre, UK 'A major and seminal work' - David Downes, Professor Emeritus at the London School of Economics Penal Systems: A Comparative Approach is a comprehensive and original introduction to the comparative study of punishment. Analysing twelve countries, Cavadino and Dignan offer an integrated and theoretically rigorous approach to comparative penology. They draw upon material provided by a team of eminent penologists to produce an important and highly readable contribution to scholarship in this area. Early chapters introduce the reader to comparative penology, set out the theoretical framework and consider whether there is currently a 'global penal crisis'. Each country is then discussed in turn. Chapters on comparative youth justice and the privatization of prisons follow. Comparisons between countries are drawn within each chapter, giving the reader a synoptic and truly comparative vision of penalty in different jurisdictions.

Waiting For The Wild Beasts To Vote Ahmadou Kourouma 2011-01-25 Ahmadou Kourouma's remarkable novel is narrated by Bingo, a West African sora - storyteller and king's fool. Over the course of five nights he tells the life story of Koyaga, President and Dictator of the Gulf Coast. Orphaned at the age of seven, Koyaga grows up to be a terrible hunter; he fights mythical beasts, and is a shape-shifter, capable of changing himself into beasts and birds. He fights in the French colonial armies, in Vietnam and Algeria, but on his return he mounts a coup and becomes ruler and dictator of the Gulf Coast. For thirty years he runs a corrupt but 'clean' state, surviving repeated assassination attempts and gaining support and investment from abroad. But when the 'First World' decides it no longer want to support dictatorships and call for democracy, he needs another ruse to maintain himself in power... Part magic, part history, part savage satire, Waiting for the Wild Beasts to Vote is nothing less than a history of post-colonial Africa itself.

Médiation pénale (Nouvelle édition) Paul Mbanzoulou 2012-12-01 La médiation pénale permet d'apporter une réponse judiciaire globale face à la petite et moyenne délinquance sans déclencher le processus pénal classique, grâce à la proposition d'une solution transactionnelle entre l'auteur des faits et sa victime. A jour des dernières évolutions législatives et réglementaires, cet ouvrage questionne le cadre de la médiation pénale en France.

Using French Vocabulary Jean H. Compulsory Compassion Annalise E. Acorn 2004 Restorative justice is often touted as the humane and politically progressive alternative to the rigid philosophy of retributive punishment that underpins many of the world's judicial systems. Emotionally seductive, its rhetoric appeals to a desire for a "right-relation" among individuals and communities, and offers us a vision of justice that allows for the mutual healing of victim and offender, and with it, a sense of communal repair. In Compulsory Compassion, Annalise Acorn, a one-time advocate for restorative justice, deconstructs the rhetoric of the restorative movement. Drawing from diverse legal, literary, philosophical, and autobiographical sources, she questions the fundamental assumptions behind that rhetoric: that we can trust wrongdoers' performances of contrition; that healing lies in a respectful, face-to-face encounter between victim and offender; and that the restorative idea of right-relation holds the key to a reconciliation of justice and accountability on the one hand, with love and compassion on the other.

If You Sit Very Still Marian Partington 2016-09-21 In 1994, 21 years after her disappearance, Lucy Partington's remains were discovered in Fred and Rosemary West's basement at 25 Cromwell Street, Gloucester. In this powerful and lyrical book, Lucy's elder sister, Marian, reclaims Lucy from the status of victim and finds an authentic and compassionate response to her traumatic loss. Her inspiring narrative of healing draws on Buddhist and Quaker practices and culminates in restorative justice work in prisons.

Promoting Restorative Justice For Children United Nations Office of the Special Representative of the Secretary-General on Violence against Children 2016-09-23
This report examines the potential of restorative justice programmes to facilitate conflict resolution and provide appropriate protection to children. This applies to the justice system, whether children are victims, offenders or witnesses, but it also applies in a range of other contexts, including at school, in residential care units, in social welfare settings and in the community.

Restorative Justice Dialogue Dr. Mark Umbreit, PhD 2010-06-22 "Although Restorative Justice Dialogue is not a long text, it is an impressive achievement. Each chapter is rich in content, as Umbreit and Armour blend theory, practice, empirical research, and case studies to discuss a range of topics from specific models of restorative justice to the role of facilitators in restorative justice dialogue." --PsyncCRITIQUES "Restorative Justice Dialogue presents a thorough and comprehensive explanation and assessment of the current state of restorative justice in the world." --Journal of Social Work Values and Ethics "[A]n evidence-based description of the history, practices, and future of restorative dialogue that is informed by the values and principles of law, social work, and spirituality. This is an impressive achievement." --Daniel W. Van Ness Prison Fellowship International, Washington, DC "I know of no other book that provides such a complete review of the various and emerging restorative practices and the phenomenal growth of this movement worldwide." --David Karp, PhD Skidmore College "The combination of two outstanding and widely recognized restorative justice researchers, practitioners, and authors has produced a text that is destined to be a major resource." --Katherine Van Wormer, PhD University of Northern Iowa This book provides a comprehensive foundation for understanding restorative justice and its application worldwide to numerous social issues. Backed by reviews of empirical research and case examples, the authors describe the core restorative justice practices, including victim-offender mediation, family group conferencing, and peacemaking circles, as well as cultural considerations, emerging variations in a wide variety of settings, and the crucial role of the facilitator. Together, authors Umbreit and Armour bring the latest empirical research and clinical wisdom to those invested in the research and practice of restorative justice. Key topics: Spiritual components of restorative justice Victim-offender mediation Family group conferencing Peacemaking circles Victim-offender dialogue in crimes of severe violence Dimensions of culture in restorative justice Humanistic mediation Application to domestic violence, higher education, and incarceration

Eléments de prévention du crime André Lemaître 2014-12-01 Cet ouvrage montre la diversité des modèles de prévention de la délinquance, leur spécificité mais aussi leur nécessaire complémentarité. Il insiste également sur l'obligation de veiller aux aspects éthiques des politiques de prévention mises en place. En effet, l'utopie d'une société débarrassée de toute forme de criminalité contient la disparition de toute liberté.

Critical Issues in Restorative Justice Howard Zehr 2004-01-01 In a mere quarter-century, restorative justice has grown from a few scattered experimental projects into a worldwide social movement, as well as an identifiable field of practice and study. Moving beyond its origins in the criminal justice arena, restorative justice is now being applied in schools, homes, and the workplace. The 31 chapters in this book confront the key threats to the 'soul' of this emerging international movement. The contributing authors are long-term advocates and practitioners of restorative justice from North America, Europe, Australia, New Zealand and South Africa.

Coma Pierre Guyotat 2010-05-28 A poetic exploration of trauma and renewal from the last avant-garde visionary of the twentieth century. Long ago, in childhood, when Summer reverberates and feels and throbs all over, it begins to circumscribe my body along with my self, and my body gives it shape in turn: the "joy" of living, of experiencing, of already foreseeing dismembers it, this entire body explodes, neurons rush toward what attracts them, zones of sensation break off almost in blocks that come to rest at the four corners of the landscape, at the four corners of Creation.—from Coma The novelist and playwright Pierre Guyotat has been called the last great avant-garde visionary of the twentieth century, and the near-cult status of his work—because of its extreme linguistic innovation and its provocative violence—has made him one of the most influential of French writers today. He has been hailed as the true literary heir to Lautréamont and Arthur Rimbaud, and his "inhuman" works have been mentioned in the same breath as those by Georges Bataille and Antonin Artaud. Winner of the 2006 prix Décembre, Coma is the deeply moving, vivid portrayal of the artistic and spiritual crisis that wracked Guyotat in the 1980s when he reached the physical limits of his search for a new language, entered a mental clinic, and fell into a coma brought on by self-imposed starvation. A poetic, cruelly lucid account, Coma links Guyotat's illness and loss of subjectivity to a broader concern for the slow, progressive regeneration of humanity. Written in what the author himself has called a "normalized writing," this book visits a lifetime of moments that have in common the force of amazement, brilliance, and a flash of life. Grounded in experiences from the author's childhood and his family's role in the French Resistance, Coma is a tale of initiation that provides an invaluable key to interpreting Guyotat's work, past and future.

Justice in the Risk Society Barbara Hudson 2003-12-06 In Justice in the Risk Society Barbara Hudson outlines traditional liberal perspectives on justice, risk and security, as well as addressing some key concerns. The book provides theoretical analysis with a discussion of policies, and arguments are illustrated by cases and examples.

Moderniser la probation française Martine Herzog-Evans 2013-10-01 La probation à la française, ou le suivi et le traitement des condamnés, souffre de nombreux maux essentiellement institutionnels, mais aussi financiers et matériels. Toutefois le vivier humain y est d'une exceptionnelle richesse et la France a inventé l'intervention judiciaire et son procès équitable dans la probation. Cet ouvrage présente l'état actuel de la connaissance scientifique et des méthodes appliquées par les pays les plus modernes. Il ne reste plus à notre pays qu'à s'en emparer.

Traitement des responsabilités civile et pénale Jafar Nory Yohanloey
2013-06-01 La distinction contemporaine n'a pu empêcher le rapprochement pratique des responsabilités civile et pénale tant en droit français qu'iranien. Il apparaît qu'à la fonction réparatrice de la responsabilité civile peut s'ajouter une fonction punitive qui s'incarnerait dans "la peine privée", et à la fonction répressive de la responsabilité pénale une fonction réparatrice appelée "restitution pénale". Ces deux modes de responsabilité doivent se rejoindre dans une cohérence juridique afin que la justice soit rendue avec une dimension sociale.

Les rencontres détenus-victimes Robert Cario 2012-06-01 Les Rencontres détenus-victimes (RDV) offrent aux participants la possibilité de réparer les souffrances qui n'ont pas été prises en compte durant le procès pénal. Deux groupes de condamnés et de victimes, anonymes, se sont retrouvés chaque semaine, au sein de la Maison centrale de Poissy pour cheminer, ensemble, vers une tentative de meilleure compréhension intersubjective, au-delà des conséquences directes déjà prises en compte, des répercussions des crimes respectivement commis ou subis.

Life after Violence Peter Uvin 2013-04-04 Burundi has recently emerged from twelve years of devastating civil war. Its economy has been destroyed and hundreds and thousands of people have been killed. In this book, the voices of ordinary Burundians are heard for the first time. Farmers, artisans, traders, mothers, soldiers and students talk about the past and the future, war and peace, their hopes for a better life and their relationships with each other and the state. Young men, in particular, often seen as the cause of violence and war, talk about the difficulties of living up to standards of masculinity in an impoverished and war-torn society. Weaving a rich tapestry, Peter Uvin pitches the ideas and aspirations of people on the ground against the theory and assumptions often made by the international development and peace-building agencies and organisations. In doing this, he illuminates both shared goals and misunderstandings. This groundbreaking book on conflict and society in Africa will have profound repercussions for development across the world.

Contemporary Criminological Issues Carolyn Côté-Lussier 2020-05-05 Contemporary Criminological Issues tackles some of today's most pressing social issues, from the criminalization of Indigenous peoples to interpersonal violence, border control, and armed conflicts. This book advances cutting-edge theories and methods, with the aim of moving beyond the scholarship that reproduces insecurity and exclusion. The breadth of approaches encompasses much of the current critical criminological scholarship, serving as a counterpoint to the growth of managerial and administrative criminologies and the rise of explicitly exclusionary and punitive state policies and practices with respect to 'crime' and 'security.' This edited collection featuring two books, one in English and one in French, includes important contributions to knowledge and public policy by eminent experts and emerging scholars. This book is published in English.

Little Book of Restorative Justice for People in Prison Barb Toews 2006-08-01 Restorative justice, with its emphasis on identifying the justice needs of everyone involved in a crime, is helping restore prisoners' sense of humanity while holding them accountable for their actions. Toews, with years of experience in prison work, shows how these practices can change prison culture and society. Written for an incarcerated audience, and for all those who work with people in prison, this book also clearly outlines the experiences and needs of this under-represented part of our society. A title in The Little Books of Justice and Peacebuilding Series.
