Seven Dada Manifestos and Lampisteries Tristan Tzara 2013-12-14 This volume contains Tristan Tzara's famous manifestos, which first appeared between 1916 and 1921 and became essential texts of the modern movement and models for Breton's Surrealist manifestos. Art for Tzara was both deadly serious and a game, and the playfulness of his character is apparent not only in his polemic, which often uses dadaist typography, but in the delightful drawings contributed by Francis Picabia. In addition, this volume also contains Tzara's Lampisteries – articles that throw light on various art forms contemporary with his own work, at a time when art, weary of the old certainties, turned into subjective and often abstract forms, favouring the reality of the mind over that of the senses.

The Einstein Enigma José Rodrigues dos Santos 2011-11-22 Princeton, New Jersey, 1951: As a CIA operative watches from the shadows, two old men—Israeli prime minister David Ben-Gurion and world-renowned scientist Albert Einstein—enter Einstein's home to speak privately about nuclear weapons and the existence of God. Present Day Cairo, Egypt: Over lunch in the Muslim quarter, world-famous cryptanalyst Thomas Noronha is hired by a beautiful dark-haired woman, Ariana Pakravan, to decipher a cryptogram hidden in a recently discovered secret document under heavy security in Tehran. A manuscript penned by Albert Einstein, it is titled Die Gottesformel: The God Formula. So begins a remarkable adventure that spans the world, as Thomas and Ariana pursue the dangerous truth behind an incredible document. The Einstein Enigma is a breathtaking fusion of science, thriller, and religion, a mind-bending trip to the source of time, the essence of the universe, and the meaning of life itself.

The Banquet Years Roger Shattuck 1968-06-12 The definitive chronicle of the origins of French avant-garde literature and art, Roger Shattuck's classic portrays the cultural bohemia of turn-of-the-century Paris who carried the arts into a period of renewal and accomplishment and laid the groundwork for Dadaism and Surrealism. Shattuck focuses on the careers of Alfred Jarry, Henri Rousseau, Erik Satie, and Guillaume Apollinaire, using the quartet as window into the era as he exploring a culture whose influence is at the very foundation of modern art.

Transatlantic Encounters Michele Greet 2018-01-01 Paris was the artistic capital of the world in the 1920s and '30s, providing a home and community for the French and international avant-garde. Latin American artists contributed to and reinterpreted nearly every major modernist movement that took place in the creative center of Paris between World War I and World War II, including Cubism (Diego Rivera), Surrealism (Antonio Berni and Roberto Matta), and Constructivism (Joaquin Torres-Garcia). Yet their participation in the Paris art scene has remained largely overlooked until now. This book examines their collective role, surveying the work of both household names and an extraordinary array of lesser-known artists. Michele Greet illuminates the significant ways in which Latin American expatriates helped establish modernism

The Liberation of Painting Patricia Leighton 2013-11-08 The years before World War I were a time of social and political ferment in Europe, which profoundly affected the art world. A major center of this creative tumult was Paris, where many avant-garde artists sought to transform modern art through their engagement with radical politics. In this provocative study of art and anarchism in prewar France, Patricia Leighton argues that anarchist aesthetics and a related politics of form played crucial roles in the development of modern art, only to be suppressed by war fever and then forgotten. Leighton examines the circle of artists—Pablo Picasso, Juan Gris, František Kupka, Maurice de Vlaminck, Kees Van Dongen, and others—for whom anarchist politics drove the idea of avant-garde art, exploring how their aesthetic choices negotiated the myriad artistic languages operating in the decade before World War I. Whether they worked on large-scale salon paintings, political cartoons, or avant-garde abstractions, these artists, she shows, were preoccupied with social criticism. Each sought an appropriate subject, medium, style, and audience based on different conceptions of how art influences society—and their choices constantly shifted as they responded to the dilemmas posed by contradictory anarchist ideas. According to anarchist theorists, art should expose the follies and iniquities of the present to the masses, but it should also be the untrammelled expression of the emancipated individual and open a path to a new social order. Revealing how these ideas generated some of modernism's most telling contradictions among the prewar Parisian avant-garde, The Liberation of Painting restores revolutionary activism to the broader history of modern art.

By insisting that art, even art of the avant-garde, is part of the general culture, not autonomous or above it, he forces us to think differently not only about art and art history but about society itself."—New York Times Book Review

A Cubism Reader Mark Antliff 2008 "This definitive anthology covers the historical genesis of cubism from 1906 to 1914, with documents that range from manifestos and poetry to exhibition prefaces and reviews to articles that address the cultural, political, and philosophical issues related to the movement. Most of the texts Mark Antliff and Patricia Leighton have selected are from French sources, but their inclusion of carefully culled German, English, Czech, Italian, and Spanish documents speaks to the international reach of cubist art and ideas. Equally wide-ranging are the writers represented--a group that includes Guillaume Apollinaire, Gertrude Stein, Jean Metzinger, Albert Gleizes, Fernand Léger, Francis Picabia, André Salmon, Raymond Duchamp-Villon, Henri Le Fauconnier, and many others."--Publisher description.

Realising REDD+ Arild Angelsen 2009-01-01 REDD+ must be transformational. REDD+ requires broad institutional and governance reforms, such as tenure, decentralisation, and corruption control. These reforms will enable departures from business as usual, and involve communities and forest users in making and implementing policies that affect them. Policies must go beyond forestry. REDD+ strategies must include policies outside the forestry sector narrowly defined, such as agriculture and energy, and better coordinate across sectors to deal with non-forest drivers of deforestation and degradation. Performance-based payments are key, yet limited. Payments based on performance directly incentivise and compensate forest owners and users. But schemes such as payments for environmental services (PES) depend on conditions, such as secure tenure, solid carbon data and transparent governance, that are often lacking and take time to change. This constraint reinforces the need for broad institutional and policy reforms. We must learn from the past. Many approaches to REDD+ now being considered are similar to previous efforts to conserve and better manage forests, often with limited success. Taking on board lessons learned from past experience will improve the prospects of REDD+ effectiveness. National circumstances and uncertainty must be factored in. Different country contexts will create a variety of REDD+ models with different institutional and policy mixes. Uncertainties about the shape of the future global REDD+ system, national readiness and political consensus require flexibility and a phased approach to REDD+ implementation.

Another Myself Emiliya Pacheva 2018-06-06 We think we know ourselves too good, but the truth is that we can always be surprised.... Kate (Verona) was a fragile girl, full of dreams, but now she is sitting in Doctor Carter's cabinet, where she has to convince him, that she didn't want to commit a suicide. But all evidence are showing the opposite. The reader is involved in a very dynamic and emotional conversation between the two characters, which shows the transformation every one of us is going through, when we love, believe, dream, suffer... 'To all, who lose themselves when they love' ... 'Two weeks ago the 32-years old celebrity Kate Johnson, alias Verona, was hospitalized with high amount of poison for rats in her blood. Her agent discovered her fainted on the floor in her hotel room. Kate was holding a bottle of red wine and in the other hand a broken glass.' 'Jesus, another arrogant newborn star, which couldn't handle the stress of being famous and rich!' - Tom was thinking.' 'Tom was looking at her, but couldn't find even a sign of sadness, she was telling this story as it was about someone else. 'But she is Kate, .. and Verona at the same time, .. Typical for people, who went through a hard moment. They are escaping from the reality, creating a comfortable zone in the face of a new personality, which is the opposite of their character.' 'She asked: 'Tell me, dear, how can I help you? What is your wish?'. At that moment Kate felt like she is going to crash on the ground. The pain she was feeling was enormous, too intensive. It felt the same way as when she saw that ugly scene with her sister and Romeo. Kate replied to the woman: 'I want to be senseless! I do not want to have any feelings, nothing, ..completely nothing! .' 'She never let anyone to stay over the night. Never let anyone closer to her heart. She had no friends, just wealthy hypocritical acquaintances, like her.' 'When we are losing or not achieving something, no matter how much we are dreaming of it - we should take our lesson - maybe this wasn't meant to be for us, maybe it had to happen this way, to take us to the point from where we will achieve something better. Every lose is a win and it is not just a cheap phrase, it is the truth, if you are not losing, you will never be improving. To be first in life, you should be comfortable with being second, first.' 'One very kind woman, Lady Diana, said once, that the biggest disease for the people now is that they are feeling unloved. I am not going to advise you as a doctor, Verona, ..but...'' An end nobody expected...
