Wally Worm and the Wool Scarves William Martin 2021-04-15 Why would a wiggly worm wear wool scarves? Wally wears his colorful wool scarves in the hot summer sun and the cool whirling winds of Malta. Wally only takes off his wool scarves at night when he crawls up through the street crack to feel the rain on his wiggles. Will this five-hearted worm figure out how wonderful his wiggles really are and shed those colorful scarves? Join Wally, the earthworm, on an adventure through the narrow streets of Malta and experience the vibrant boats in the bay, pink blossom candy falling from the trees, and fireworks in the sky. It's a journey filled with new friends and self discovery.

Trade Fair Design Annual 2018/19 Sabine Marinescu 2018-10 - The standard reference work in the Trade Fair Design World Current brand communication is increasingly moving towards real-digital narratives. The storytelling trend plays a major role in this, as well as the type of communication, in times of complete digitization. Particularly at trade fairs, personal discussion is still the key aspect of every presentation. With this edition of the Trade Fair Design Annual, the authors present a series of successful examples of transmedia storytelling, attaching particular importance to the accomplished use of means of communication. What is decisive, however, is the exceptional design of the overall presentation, which can add communicative and therefore informative value for the exhibitor, as well as provide an emotional experience for the visitors. Text in English and German.

Schools for the Future Rotraut Walden 2015-04-02 Drawing on the perspectives of architectural psychology, set against the historical development of school building in the United States, Japan and Germany, the authors' vision is to create places where we would want to relive our own school days. The book takes the position that user design, control of stress factors and control of communication (privacy, retreats) should be allowed to modify the original architectural design to flexibly accommodate future changing requirements. The development and application of criteria for assessing functional, aesthetic, social-physical, ecological, organizational and economical aspects to various parts of the school complex call for a common language for the design process. The appendix presents 24 innovative schools from countries in five continents.

Light in Architecture Chris van Uffelen 2012 Light is a prerequisite for architecture, since it is the element that renders walls and spaces visible. With the right light, well-designed buildings and interiors are considerably enhanced. In recent years, supported by groundbreaking technological innovations, the use of light in architecture and interior design has become more creative, lively and colorful than ever. Not only have these developments allowed for more artistry in the field, but lighting design has also become part of energy-saving concepts. Light in Architecture presents 123 projects by architects and designers all around the world, where the use of natural and artificial light is the defining element: the C42 Showroom in Paris, the Air Traffic Control Tower in Vienna, the Supperclub in Singapore, the Greenpix Zero Energy Wall in Beijing, the Ave Maria Chapel in Naples, FL, the Koukjian Jewelry in Beirut and the Deloitte Headquarters in Copenhagen - this volume allows every imaginable use of light in every sector to shine.

Images Ilka Ruby 2004 This exploration of the use and significance of two-dimensional images in contemporary architecture looks at the works of major designers, including Zaha Hadid, Herzog & de Meuron, Rem Koolhaas, MVRDV, and Sauerbruch & Hutton, among others. It shows how certain architectural principles such as color and ornament--which nearly disappeared in modern twentieth century architecture--are making a strong comeback. Drawing connections to the rise of globalization and current media trends, this examination uses an abundance of thematically arranged photographs to illustrate what is unmistakably a major contemporary development in architecture.

Be Stupid Renzo Rosso 2011 Diesel's Be Stupid advertising campaign created a stir worldwide. Now the philosophy behind the campaign is presented in full in Renzo Rosso's manual of practical advice and business-tested wisdom for achieving success. Drawing on his experience as a creative entrepreneur, Rosso explains how the braveness to make stupid decisions and the ability to see things for how they could be helped him build a successful company. Be Stupid is a method for learning: a guide for how to listen to your heart and not your head, to be creative instead of critical, and to get back on your feet after a downfall. The book reflects the inspiring story and personality of the author: methodical but fun, creative but rational, passionate and pragmatic.

Lighting Design and Process Office for Visual Interaction 2013 For nearly two decades, Office for Visual Interaction (OVI) has been creating inventive lighting designs, illuminating the world's most prominent architectural works. The New York Times Building, the United States Air Force Memorial, a streetlight for the City of New York, the historic Rookery Building or the Scottish Parliament, are part of a new design canon that has captivated designers and visitors alike. As the name itself states, OVI is inspired by light's interaction with finishes and materials. Through the activation of surfaces, light and shadow become a natural extension of the architectural language, integrated and woven into the building fabric rather than applied as an additive element. Impeccably designed and illustrated with more than 400 stunning images, sketches, illustrations and graphics, this book is an essential companion to the art and science of lighting design and an unprecedented account of one of the world's leading architectural lighting design firms. Includes detailed case studies of The Scottish Parliament in Edinburgh plus 19 other projects and also features the exhibition 'Lighting Powers of 10'

Axel Nieberg Axel Nieberg 2005 Axel Nieberg zählt zu einer Generation junger Architekten, die durch herausragende Bauten auf sich aufmerksam gemacht haben. Der sinnliche Umgang mit Materialien und das Gefühl für die Lichtführung geben seinen Gebäuden Ausdruckstärke. Seine Bauten bieten Schutz vor der täglichen Reizüberflutung. Mit Vorliebe arbeitet er mit massiven Materialien wie Stein und Beton. In seinen Gebäuden transformiert er klassische Motive der Architektur in eine moderne Formensprache. Diese Monographie stellt das Werk Axel Niebergs in seinem gesamten Spektrum von Architektur über Produktdesign bis hin zur freien Kunst vor

Home Stories Mateo Kries 2020-04-21 A mammoth history of interior design and the way it shapes our lives, in 20 iconic interiors Our homes are an expression of how we want to live; they shape our everyday routines and fundamentally affect our well-being. Interior design for the home sustains a giant global industry and feeds an entire branch of the media. However, the question of dwelling, or how to live, is found increasingly to be lacking in serious discourse. This book sets out to review the interior design of our homes. It discusses 20 iconic residential interiors from the present back to the 1920s, by architects, artists and designers such as Assemble, Cecil Beaton, Lina Bo Bardi, Arno Brandhuber, Elsie de Wolfe, Elii, Josef Frank, Andrew Geller, IKEA, Finn Juhl, Michael Graves, Kisho Kurokawa, Adolf Loos, Claude Parent, Bernard Rudofsky, Margarete Schütte-Lihotzky, Alison and Peter Smithson, Jacques Tati, Mies van der Rohe and Andy Warhol. Including historic and recent photographs, drawings and plans, the book explores these case studies as key moments in the history of the modern interior. Penny Sparke provides a concise history of the discipline of interior design, Alice Rawsthorn investigates the role of gender, and Mark Taylor discusses the discourse on interior design in the 21st century. Adam Stech offers insights into the use of colour in residential interiors and Matteo Pirola offers a detailed and richly illustrated chronology of significant events in the history of interior design. In a portfolio of photographs selected exclusively for this book, Jasper Morrison explores what makes a good interior. In addition to interviews with contemporary interior design practitioners, experts in the fields of the sociology of living and psychology provide further insight. This book is a valuable resource for anyone interested in interior design.

Labics - Structures Maria Claudia Clemente 2019-03-15 Labics is a rising Rome-based architectural firm that has gained great international acclaim in recent years for both its projects and its submissions to major competitions. Its guiding principle is the idea of "structure." Each of the firm's projects--which range from housing and office buildings to museums, cultural centers, schools, subway stations, and public spaces--is intended to exemplify the importance of the respective type of structure. Labics--Structures is the first book on Labics's remarkable and rapidly growing body of work. The book is arranged in four chapters that explore the idea of structure in different contexts: "Geometric," "Bearing," "Circulation," and "Public Space Structures." Alongside topical essays, it features twenty projects selected by the firm's founding directors, Maria Claudia Clemente and Francesco Isidori, to represent the diversity of the firm's work, as well as its wide geographic reach--with buildings in Italy, Finland, Switzerland, England, Bosnia and Herzegovina, Saudi Arabia, and Iran. Each project is documented with atmospheric photographs and a wealth of plans and diagrams to illustrate concepts and details.

Road Lighting for Safety D. A. Schreuder 1998 The importance of lighting for the safety of road users, the convenience of people of all levels of ability, and the prevention of street crime can hardly be exaggerated. Added to this, the considerable number of recent developments and the complexity of the issues involved in effective and environmentally acceptable road lighting make this broadly-based treatment of the subject both timely and welcome. Dr Ir Schreuders aim is to clarify the subject for all those involved in road lighting, from planning, through design and engineering, to implementation and maintenance.

Designing Interior Architecture Sylvia Leydecker 2013-05-28 Designing interior spaces is a task that is equally relevant as architecture, landscape architecture, and urban design for those working professionally in the built environment. In this comprehensive work, an international and interdisciplinary team of authors presents the essential aspects of the various fields of contemporary interior architecture and design. The project examples are illustrated with brilliant photographs and plans. They have been selected according to consistent criteria for all chapters of the book and represent the essential building types, including exhibition stand design, as well as a broad range of today's design approaches. The authors place the collaboration between the various design disciplines at the center of focus. The appendix contains information for further research. All in all, Designing Interior Architecture is a fundamental reference work for all those professionally engaged with the design.

Basics Project Management Architecture Bert Bielefeld 2013 The core task of the classic architect, in addition to architectural design and planning work, is management of the construction project: from planning operations and tendering, to scheduling and cost planning and construction management. These important practical tasks are usually only covered during studies by one subject: Construction Management or Construction Economics, and thus treated as less significant. But every architect must master these abilities in order to manage and realize his or her own projects successfully.

Design Dictionary Michael Erlhoff 2008-01-01 This dictionary provides a stimulating and categorical foundation for a serious international discourse on design. It is a handbook for everyone concerned with design in career or education, who is interested in it, enjoys it, and wishes to understand it. 110 authors from Japan, Austria, England, Germany, Australia, Switzerland, the Netherlands, the United States, and elsewhere have written original articles for this design dictionary. Their cultural differences provide perspectives for a shared understanding of central design categories and communicating about design. The volume includes both the terms in use in current discussions, some of which are still relatively new, as well as classics of design discourse. A practical book, both scholarly and ideal for browsing and reading at leisure.

Mr. Ken Fulk's Magical World Ken Fulk 2016-10-18 Working out of The Magic Factory, a 15,000- square-foot think tank in San Francisco, Ken Fulk specializes in interior design, special events, and architecture. Whether he is creating fantastic homes, throwing the opening party of a museum show, or planning large-scale events (like the famous wedding of Facebook s Sean Parker in a redwood forest), Fulk s work is always remarkable and stylish and sometimes over the top. Featuring more than 200 color photos with accompanying narration by the designer, "Mr. Ken Fulk s Magical World" showcases the best of his luxurious environments over the past decade: gorgeous dwellings he has designed for notable clientele; his own three homes; stunning examples of his party and event designs; and even a private jet."

Basics Lighting Design Roman Skowranek 2017-05-22 Daylight is the most important element determining the mood and appearance of architecture, more so than all construction materials. In office buildings in particular, the good provision of daylight and matching artificial lighting installations make an important contribution to energy conservation – the better the use made of daylight, the less energy has to be consumed for artificial lighting. For this reason, typical architectural concepts have changed in recent years; enclosed buildings with full air-conditioning have increasingly made way to buildings that respond to the climate conditions of their environment, thereby using only a much reduced amount of energy without compromising on comfort. The BASICS Lighting Design volume includes the most important principles of daylight and artificial lighting design. Selection of subjects covered: Sizes and units Building concept design principles (layout design, building orientation and facade structure) Lighting design concepts Current daylighting and artificial lighting systems Solar screening Directing daylight

Mayhaus Christina Treutlein 2021-04-22 The mayhaus in Frankfurt's Römerstadt is the only residential building in the style of the Neues Frankfurt of the 1920s that has been completely restored. The book explains the func-tions of the model house using current photographs and historical plans. Via the text level, which zooms from the city via the housing estate and then the street into the building, the mayhaus, including the famous Frankfurt cuisine, is classified in terms of architectural history and socio-cultural aspects.

Daylighting in Architecture Nick V. Baker 2015-12-08 Typically one third of the energy used in many buildings may be consumed by electric lighting. Good daylighting design can reduce electricity consumption for lighting and improve standards of visual comfort, health and amenity for the occupants. As the only comprehensive text on the subject written in the last decade, the book will be welcomed by all architects and building services engineers interested in good daylighting design. The book is based on the work of 25 experts from all parts of Europe who have collected, evaluated and developed the material under the auspices of the European Commission's Solar Energy and Energy Conservation R&D Programmes.

Wirkungsvolle Live-Kommunikation Axel Gundlach 2013-09-20 Veranstaltungen mit konkreten kommunikativen Zielen sind das komplexeste Medium im Marketingmix von Unternehmen. Neben den klassischen Marketinginstrumenten kann Live-Kommunikation jedoch einen erheblichen Beitrag zum Erfolg leisten – sofern sie gut durchdacht und strukturiert sowie kreativ umgesetzt wird. Zunächst sollten sich die Budget-Entscheider die folgenden Fragen stellen: Welche Rolle kann Live-Kommunikation im Marketingmix des Unternehmens spielen? Wie unterscheidet sie sich von anderen Kommunikationswegen? Wo ergänzt sie die Präsentation eines Unternehmens gegenüber seinen Zielgruppen? Der Kommunikationsberater und langjährige Performance-Künstler GAX Axel Gundlach vermittelt ein grundsätzliches Verständnis der Live-Kommunikation und stellt eine strukturierte Ideenmaschine zur Analyse und Konzeption wirkungsvoller Events vor. Der Autor fokussiert insbesondere die emotionalen und psychologischen Aspekte dabei und gibt den Lesern die Möglichkeit, Inhalte, Emotionen und Wirkungen in einer gut erzählten Geschichte zu formulieren. Ein lesenswerter Leitfaden für Projekt- und Eventmanager in Unternehmen und Agenturen sowie Kommunikationsverantwortliche und Mitarbeiter Corporate Communications. "Ein perfekter Leitfaden für alle Planer, Eventmanager und nicht zuletzt Auftraggeber. Wenn alle am gleichen Strang ziehen, kann Live-Kommunikation ein echter Marketing-Renner werden. Wohltuend umfassend, aber dennoch kurzweilig und praxisnah - und immer auf Augenhöhe mit dem Publikum. Eben wie ein gelungener Event." Dr. Christian Mikunda

Brandscapes Anna Klingmann 2010-09-24 Architecture as imprint, as brand, as the new media of transformation—of places, communities, corporations, and people. In the twenty-first century, we must learn to look at cities not as skylines but as brandscapes and at buildings not as objects but as advertisements and destinations. In the experience economy, experience itself has become the product: we're no longer consuming objects but sensations, even lifestyles. In the new environment of brandscapes, buildings are not about where we work and live but who we imagine ourselves to be. In Brandscapes, Anna Klingmann looks critically at the controversial practice of branding by examining its benefits, and considering the damage it may do. Klingmann argues that architecture can use the concepts and methods of branding—not as a quick-and-easy selling tool for architects but as a strategic tool for economic and cultural transformation. Branding in architecture means the expression of identity, whether of an enterprise or a city; New York, Bilbao, and Shanghai have used architecture to enhance their images, generate economic growth, and elevate their positions in the global village. Klingmann looks at different kinds of brandscaping today, from Disneyland, Las Vegas, and Times Square—prototypes and case studies in branding—to Prada's superstar-architect-designed shopping epicenters and the banalities of Niketown. But beyond outlining the status quo, Klingmann also alerts us to the dangers of brandscapes. By favoring the creation of signature buildings over more comprehensive urban interventions and by severing their identity from the complexity of the social fabric, Klingmann argues, today's brandscapes have, in many cases, resulted in a culture of the copy. As experiences become more and more commodified, and the global landscape progressively more homogenized, it falls to architects to infuse an ever more aseptic landscape with meaningful transformations. How can architects use branding as a means to differentiate places from the inside out—and not, as current development practices seem to dictate, from the outside in? When architecture brings together ecology, economics, and social well-being to help people and places regain self-sufficiency, writes Klingmann, it can be a catalyst for cultural and economic transformation.

The Afrikaner Arianna Dagnino 2019-04 "A crime in the underbelly of deeper Johannesburg leads Zoe du Plessis, a palaeontologist of Afrikaner origin, to believe her family's secret is wrapped in an old shaman's spell. When Zoe heads for the merciless Kalahari Desert in search of early human fossils, her scientific expedition exposes instead South Africa's darker past to a scorching sun. Atonement will come through the pages of a lover's notebook still to be written."--

Constructing Opportunity Elizabeth K. Eder 2003 Constructing Opportunity: American Women Educators in Early Meiji Japan tells the story of Margaret Clark Griffis and Dora E. Schoonmaker, two extraordinary women who transcended the traditional boundaries of nation, class, and gender by living and working in an alternative cultural setting outside the United States in the 1870s. Author Elizabeth K. Eder draws on numerous primary sources, including unpublished diaries and letters, to give both an intimate biographical account of these women's lives and an examination of the social and institutional frameworks of their professional lives in Japan.
