Education and Disability in the Global South Nidhi Singal 2018-12-13 Education and Disability in the Global South brings together new and established researchers from a variety of disciplines to explore the complexities and dilemmas encountered in providing education to children and young people with disabilities in countries in South Asia and Africa. Applying a range of methodological, theoretical and conceptual frameworks across different levels of education systems, from pre-school to higher education, the contributors examine not just the barriers but also the opportunities within the educational systems, in order to make strong policy recommendations. Together, the chapters offer a comprehensive overview of a range of issues, including a nuanced appreciation of the tensions between the local and global in relation to key developments in the field, critiquing a globalized notion of inclusive education, as well as proposing new methodological advancements in taking the research agenda forward. Empirical insights are captured not just from the perspectives of educators but also through engaging with children and young people with disabilities, who are uniquely powerful in providing insights for future developments.

Rooh - Meeting Soul Paramjit Kaur Pirzada 2021-06-06 We exist. We like. We love. We lose. We grieve. We reflect. We move on. We learn. Finally, we live. Each verse and shayari in my poetic endeavour is a sincere, raw and honest reflection of my life's greatest learning's, purest thoughts, and deepest emotions. Written from my heart (dil se), these poems are seemingly ordinary yet powerful everyday emotions, thoughts and situations that we experience but tend to not necessarily ponder upon as we get preoccupied with the mundane aspects of our lives. Based on a combination of intimate observations of the world and deeply personal experiences of the poet, these poems and shayari's cover a myriad range of topics from approaching life with the right mindset to taking control of our circumstances, to living in the moment, to taking risks to succeed in life, to finding faith, to experiencing and exhibiting love, compassion, joy, fear, worry, to dealing with sorrows and failures. Underlying the message throughout the various sections in the book is a heartfelt message of optimism and positivity. Compiling them over a ___ of years, the poet wishes for the readers to pause, assimilate and most importantly relate to her thoughts, hoping to enable a community of shared dialogue and interaction. For when all else fails, there are words. And in the end, words will set us free.

Maa Beti Gita Baksi 2022-02-16 This book is very special as it has precious gems. These gems are our moments together. Mom and I spent very special moments together after everyone left us after Dad passed away. Just the two of us were in the apartment, and we were discovering our lives together. My visits to India are short; by March, I return to Canada. I am not able to take the dry heat. Interestingly this year, many people from India and Delhi in special felt a different heat. The wrath of Corona. Many families were affected, and we soon became headlines with the Delta variant. I lost 8 family and friends. We were already grieving Dad's loss, and now we had these sudden demises. Maa became clingy to her phone and kept a tab of who was with us and who wasn't. She looked lost. My brother called us and motivated us so, did all the grandsons; Mom enjoys talking to her grandson. I persuaded Mom that we needed to go to Canada as my son was waiting. Mom loves India, her plants, her friends and then she showed me her diary where she wrote her poetry. Mom loves to write Bengali poems, and she loves to recite them. The book's title is Maa beti because people in the Orchid petal colony, Gurgaon, call us by that name. This was first coined when we took our first Covid jab. Incidentally, 90 percent of the people residing here have taken the stab.

The Lotus Flower Shamim Razaq 2014-06-11 The Lotus Flower is a collection of poetry about healing; mother nature; love; relationships; spirituality; religion; depression amongst many other subjects. The Lotus Flower stays close to mother nature throughout. The poems were written in order to heal from mental health illness and gain a new life of spirituality and wisdom. The poetry depicts life in its minute form and brings small things to life. The poetry is written from a feminist point of view covering many areas of femininity and mother nature. Beginning with the poem 'My Brand New Book,' shows my second chance in life of writing and living, still staying natural to my environment and my experiences. As the poems develop and come out of their shell I write about depression and relationships, asking the question: Who am I? continuously. The title is inspired from the poem 'About Ancestor Voices' and it was after this poem my poetry was growing into another dimension, especially the lines: 'The lakes are laid with the Lotus, As they have fought from the depths of waters', Carrying hope, light and purity in their shield like petals.'The poetry develops into 'My World' and 'A Poetess Grows' showing the development in the poetry reflecting life. As it develops I express the importance of childhood and religion. As identity in finding life back is explored I return to religion and back to nature. After writing 'The Phoenix' the poetry expresses love and resurrection and how much we can learn from mother nature.

Dancing with the Nation Ruth Vanita 2018-02-22 Indian cinema is the only body of world cinema that depicts courtesans as important characters. In early films courtesan characters transmitted Indian classical dance, music and aesthetics to large audiences. They represent the nation's past, tracing their heritage to the fourth-century Kamasutra and to nineteenth-century courtly cultures, but they are also the first group of modern women in Hindi films. They are working professionals living on their own or in matrilineal families. Like male protagonists, they travel widely and develop networks of friends and chosen kin. They have relations with men outside marriage and become single mothers. Courtesan films are heroine-oriented and almost every major female actor has played this role. Challenging received wisdom, Vanita demonstrates that a larger number of courtesans in Bombay cinema are Hindu and indeterminate than are Muslim, and that films depict their culture as hybrid Hindu-Muslim, not Islamicate. Courtesans speak in the ambiguous voice of the modern nation, inviting spectators to seize pleasure here and now but also to search for the meaning of life. Vanita's groundbreaking study of courtesans and courtesan imagery in 235 films brings fresh evidence to show that the courtesan figure shapes the modern Indian erotic, political and religious imagination.

The Burning Bride Manoj Kerai 2015-03-08 In India, one woman is murdered every hour by her husband's family for a dowry. The Burning Bride follows the story of Uma, a newlywed woman. She starts her new life with many dreams. However, her dreams turn into nightmares when her parents are unable to fulfil the dowry demands made by Madhu, her mother-in-law. The heaven she had imagined transforms into a hell, and the worst part is; there appears to be no escape. Violence against women is high in India but the irony is that Indian people worship women in the forms of many goddesses. The most commonly worshipped goddess is Durga who has nine forms. Therefore The Burning Bride is told through nine women's perspectives. The multiple perspectives highlights social, psychological and cultural factors which allow the dowry system to claim so many lives every year. At least 10% of the profits made from the sales of The Burning Bride will support the Asian Circle to fund Oxfam projects to end domestic violence in India.

Ripples of Thought Agnimita Chatterjee 2016-09-01 Life, generally speaking, is ordinary. People who live, generally speaking again, are ordinary. Hardly anybody thinks they could be heroes of timeless legends, or stories could be based on them. And that is where this collection of tales steps out from the lot. Ripples of Thought is a book about ordinary beings, living ordinary moments, having ordinary experiences. It tells stories about faces which we come across every day. It has made characters out of these faces which are already there, in the vast canvas that we call life, living, breathing, alive and kicking... in a multi-dimensional existence, yet hardly noticed by us. Let's delve into this extra-ordinary world of some ordinary people.

English Drama 'KINNER MAA' DR SANJAY JOHARI 2022-04-07 When I see the Kinneras on the road, clapping awkwardly, I could not ignore them. I thought about how they show that they are very happy but inwardly they have an inner vacuity of life. I tried my best to speculate the inner feelings and sentiments of them. They are teased and abused on the way still they laugh but I realized how they are tortured inwardly. Then I thought of writing something about their life. The life of such persons is not a boon. In this book I want to voice against unsympathetic behavior of the people towards them. Why don't we feel that they are like us. We should pay respect and honor to them. Lalli, the heroine of the drama is a kinner who lives in the house of Mr Jatin Prasad as the Mausi of his children Aniket and Samik. She looks after them as a mother does. Everything was going on smoothly till then it was not discovered that Lalli is a kinner. All her good qualities were shattered in a minute. The society even Aniket and Samiksha did not ready to accept her. Why? Because she is a kinner. All such a negative outlook is focused in the drama. So that society may change their opinion and give them place among the human beings.

Kapoors Madhu Jain 2009-04-17 'We are like the Corleones in The Godfather'—Randhir Kapoor There is no film family quite like the Kapoors. A family of professional actors and directors, they span almost eighty years of film-making in India, from the 1920s to the present. Each decade in the history of Hindi films has had at least one Kapoor—if not more—playing a large part in defining it. Never before have four generations of this family—or five, if you include Bashesharnath Kapoor, Prithviraj Kapoor's father, who played the judge in Awara—been brought together in one book. The Kapoors details the professional careers and personal lives of each generation—box-office successes and failures, the ideologies that informed their work, the larger-than-life Kapoor weddings and Holi celebrations, their extraordinary romantic liaisons and family relationships, their love for food and their dark passages with alcohol. Based on extensive personal interviews conducted over seven years with family members and friends, Madhu Jain goes behind the façade of each member of the Kapoor clan to reveal what makes them tick. The Kapoors resembles the films that the great showman Raj Kapoor made: grand and sweeping, with moments of high drama and touching emotion. 'Few books on Indian cinema have been written with such wit, clarity and sparkle'—Outlook 'Jain writes in a language that is simple and pithy. . . it will keep alive public interest in the Kapoors who refuse to call it a day'—Telegraph 'Immensely readable...will surely find a place in the Indian cineaste's library'—Biblio

The Economics of Elementary Education in India Santosh Mehrotra 2006-01-04 This volume discusses key aspects of the economics of the elementary education system in the poorer and educationally backward states of India, while also examining one high-achiever state--Tamil Nadu. Providing the first state-by-state analysis of major cost and financing issues, the book is based on data gathered from one of the most comprehensive surveys conducted in recent times in these states, which was specifically commissioned for this book. The survey covered 120,000 households and a thousand schools spread over 91 districts in eight states. Written by leading educational economists, the original essays in this volume- analyse the major cost and financing issues in elementary schooling in seven of the eight states surveyed--Assam, Bihar, Madhya Pradesh, Rajasthan, Tamil Nadu, Uttar Pradesh and West Bengal;- identify recent initiatives made by the governments of these seven states;- systematically scrutinise the pattern of the public spending in elementary education;- examine enrolment in government schools and the quality of education that they impart;- study household expenditure on schooling--the costs to parents of sending children to school; and- compare government schools with private schools, showing how the private sector has begun to take over the what should be the responsibility of the government, particularly in the poorer states.

The Backpackers Rohit Bhatia We often travel or have memories related to travelling. We get so caught up in our daily lives that simply staying put can cause more harm than good. It's sometimes advisable to take a step back, inhale deeply, and move on from that Eiffel Tower selfie. In all seriousness, travel isn't a horrible idea; it's the most natural way to feel as if you're missing someone or that you're being missed. The book speaks of the travel diaries in first half. Social evils are issues that directly or indirectly harm society's members and are viewed as a source of debate or a problem in terms of moral principles. Caste system, poverty, dowry system, gender inequality, illiteracy, and other societal ills are all common. The social problems and superstitions that have ruled society for ages have made social changes necessary for the society's and masses' development. The book speaks of the real evils of the society in the second half.

Girl's Blessing or Curse? 2021-03-18 "The anthology is an initiative by Ankita Bhatia as a compiler on the important social issue that raises a question whether girls are burden or blessing for the society" because in the society where some people treat girls as goddess Lakshmi and on the other hand many say a burdon has come on us when a girl is born thinking of future to pay dowry and all... Many female authors have penned down their views for the same hoping to bring a little change in the society as the change begins from yourself.
