La France et ses administrations : un état des savoirs Jean-Michel Eyméri-Douzans 2013-06-12 En pleine congruence avec l'ambition du Groupe Européen pour l'Administration Publique d'encourager les échanges

interculturels, ce livre constitue une entreprise originale, mi-anglophone mi-francophone. Cet ouvrage issu du Congrès du GEAP 2010 a pour objet de combler un déplorable fossé et de donner une visibilité internationale au « cas français ». Dès lors ce livre, en 18 chapitres rédigés en français par une équipe interdisciplinaire (politistes, sociologues, historiens, socio-historiens, juristes) avec plus de 150 pages en anglais et une vaste bibliographie unifiée, entend offrir à tous les spécialistes de l'administration publique de par le monde un point d'accès unique au plus récent état des savoirs sur l'administration en France – ce pays où le mot État s'écrit avec un E majuscule. ===== In full compliance with the ambition of the European Group for Public Administration to encourage cross-cultural exchanges, this book is a genuinely original undertaking. It is a hybrid Anglophone-Francophone product. This book from EGPA 2010 Conference purpose to bridge a regrettable gap and to give international visibility to the “French case”. Thus, this book, in 18 chapters written in French by an interdisciplinary team (political scientists, sociologists, historians, sociohistorians, jurists) with more than 150 pages in English and a vast unified bibliography, offers to all students of public administration in the world a unique entry gate to the latest state of the art of administrative studies in France – this country where the State is to be spelled with a capital S.

Transnationalism and Translation in Modern Chinese, English, French and Japanese Literatures Ryan Johnson 2020-12-15 The theory of “literary worlds” has become increasingly important in comparative and world literatures. But how are the often-contradictory elements of Eastern and Western literatures to cohere in the new worlds such contact creates? Drawing on the latest work in philosophical logic and analytic Asian philosophy, this monograph proposes a new model of literary worlds that is best suited to comparative literature dealing with Western and East Asian traditions. Unlike much discussion of world literature anchored in North American traditions, featured here is the transnational work of artists, philosophers, and poets writing in English, French, Japanese and Mandarin in the twentieth century. Rather than imposing sharp borders, this book suggests that vague boundaries link Eastern and Western literary works and traditions, and that degrees of distance can better help us to see the multiple dimensions that both distinguish and join together literary worlds East and West. As such, it enables us to grasp not only how East Asian and Western writers translate one another's works into their own languages and traditions, but also how modern writers East and West modify their own traditions in order to make them fit in the new constellation of literary worlds brought about by the complex flow of literary information across twentieth-century Eurasia.

Monasticism in Eastern Europe and the Former Soviet Republics Ines Angeli Murzaku 2015-08-27 This book looks at Eastern and Western monasticism's continuous and intensive interactions with society in Eastern Europe, Russia and the Former Soviet Republics. It discusses the role monastics played in fostering national identities, as well as the potentiality of monasteries and religious orders to be vehicles of ecumenism and inter-religious dialogue within and beyond national boundaries. Using a country-specific analysis, the book highlights the monastic tradition and monastic establishments. It addresses gaps in the academic study of religion in Eastern European and Russian historiography and looks at the role of monasticism as a cultural and national identity forming determinant in the region.

Readers and Society in Nineteenth-Century France M. Lyons 2001-07-24 In the nineteenth century, the reading public expanded to embrace new categories of consumers, especially of cheap fiction. These new lower-class and female readers frightened liberals, Catholics and republicans alike. The study focuses on workers, women and peasants, and the ways in which their reading was constructed as a social and political problem, to analyse the fear of reading in nineteenth century France. The author presents a series of case-studies of actual readers, to examine their choices and their practices, and to evaluate how far they responded to (or subverted) attempts at cultural domination.

Rêver d'Orient, connaître l'Orient Marie-Élise Palmier-Chatelain 2008 Le terme « orientalisme », tel qu'il est entendu dans le monde anglophone, a connu un retournement de sens assez paradoxal, puisqu'après avoir désigné la science de tous ceux qui tentaient de connaître l'Orient à travers ses langues et ses textes anciens (linguistes, traducteurs, géographes ou historiens), il en est peu à peu venu à désigner la perception générale de l'Orient par l'Occident, perception fatalement teintée par les fantasmes projetés sur un Autre méconnu, comme l'ont amplement montré les études postcoloniales. Le but de cet ouvrage est de proposer un nouvel examen de ce trop net clivage entre connaissance et rêve, et de tenter de cerner dans quelle mesure et dans quels domaines la démarche scientifique a pu entrer en consonance, ou à l'inverse en dissonance, avec le « rêve d'Orient ». On découvre ici que rêve d'ailleurs et connaissance de l'autre ne sont pas nécessairement antithétiques, et peuvent se joindre ou se croiser en complexes jeux de miroirs. L'ouvrage a privilégié une approche pluridisciplinaire : les analyses textuelles (récits de voyage, traductions ou réécritures des contes orientaux, rapports diplomatiques ou écrits de la tradition orientaliste) y côtoient les études fondées sur l'histoire de l'art ou sur l'histoire des idées, pour esquisser un large panorama de ces échanges ambigus entre Orient et Occident.

Life Phenomenology of Life as the Starting Point of Philosophy Anna-Teresa Tymieniecka 2012-12-06 This collection presents perspectives into the pristine field of phenomenology/philosophy of life conceived by Tymieniecka, initiated in the Analecta Husserliana and unfolding with each volume. This new and original philosophy reaches to the 'inner workings of Nature' as well as to the innermost recesses of the Human Creative Condition, opening a basic starting point for all philosophy. Life, 'the theme of our times', finds at last a profound philosophical treatment.

Geography and Religious Knowledge in the Medieval World Christoph Mauntel 2021-06-08 In the medieval world, geographical knowledge was influenced by religious ideas and beliefs. Whereas this point is well analysed for the Latin-Christian world, the religious character of the Arabic-Islamic geographic tradition has not yet been scrutinised in detail. This volume addresses this desideratum and combines case studies from both traditions of geographic thinking. The contributions comprise in-depth analyses of individual geographical works as for example those of al-Idrisi or Lambert of Saint-Omer, different forms of presenting geographical knowledge such as T0-diagrams or globes as well as performative aspects of studying and meditating geographical knowledge. Focussing on texts as well as on maps, the contributions open up a comparative perspective on how religious knowledge influenced the way the world and its geography were perceived and described in the medieval world.

Proceedings of the 4th International Congress of the Archaeology of the Ancient Near East, 29 March - 3 April 2004, Freie Universität Berlin: The reconstruction of environment : natural resources and human interrelations through time ; art history : visual communication Hartmut Kühne 2008 The Congress hosted 611 registered participants from 38 countries. Its aim was to be an international forum for scholars and demands of Near Eastern Archaeology. From the four sections of the Congress, Vol. I: 1) The Reconstruction of Environment. Natural Resources and Human Interrelation through Time, 2) Visual Communication, [Vol. II: 3) Social and Cultural Transformation: The Archaeology of Transitional Periods and Dark Ages, 4) Archaeological Field Reports (Excavations, Surveys, Conservation) ISBN 978344705757-8]. Together these volumes unite 77 contributions on about 1100 pages. They are arranged according to the sections. The first three will be introduced by the key lectures which were given by Tony Wilkinson, Winfried Orthmann, and Roger Matthews. The resumes of these sections were provided by Wendy Matthews, Dominik Bonatz, and Diederik J.W. Meijer. The contributions cover many aspects of the main themes through time, from the Neolithic to the Hellenistic / Roman period, and offer interdisciplinary approaches to complex archaeological problems.
