A Construção do Imaginário Social dos Imigrantes Brasileiros em Portugal nas Redes Sociais da Internet: O Caso do Orkut Rodrigo Saturnino 2015-12-01 Esta Tese tem como foco as apropriações que os imigrantes brasileiros em Portugal fazem do Orkut, site de rede social que, no espaço da internet, teve a peculiaridade de mobilizar amplamente, e de modo especial, os brasileiros. O autor realiza um extensivo e rigoroso trabalho etnográfico em que, através da observação participante e análise das interações da comunidade intitulada "Brasileiros em Portugal", nos oferece algumas chaves analíticas para compreender as estratégias utilizadas pelos imigrantes brasileiros – comunidade com maior presença em Portugal - para a manutenção e recriação de vínculos com o país de origem e com o novo contexto de imigração. A investigação evidencia, ainda, as relações entre os usos da tecnologia e os processos de cidadania das migrações transnacionais, enfatizando suas dimensões subjetivas, éticas e estéticas. O trabalho estabelece igualmente uma oportuna reflexão sobre o papel das redes sociais da internet no processo de construção do imaginário social de indivíduos marcados pelo deslocamento territorial e pela experiência da multiterritorialidade, aportando elementos específicos para a problematização dos conceitos de comunidade, identidades e sociabilidades associados à vivência do transnacionalismo em espaços da internet. As reflexões propostas sugerem que as apropriações e usos específicos que fazem os imigrantes brasileiros da rede social Orkut possibilitam a experimentação de novas formas de sociabilidade e a produção de imaginários sociais sobre ser imigrante, assim como evidenciam as dificuldades e estratégias de enfrentamento e construção de trajetórias particulares de mobilidade que reatualizam a histórica relação migratória entre

Brasil e Portugal. Do âmbito dos estudos comunicacionais, esta pesquisa contribui para o debate sobre o aprofundamento da presença e mediação das tecnologias da comunicação na constituição das experiências migratórias transnacionais, ao mesmo tempo em que instiga as instituições responsáveis pelas políticas migratórias e a sociedade, de modo mais geral, a buscar nas marcas deixadas pelas narrativas dos brasileiros na internet referências sobre os anseios e demandas individuais e coletivas que demarcam suas trajetórias de migração.

The Inner Sea Josiah Blackmore 2022-09-07 An expansive consideration of how nautical themes influenced literature in early modern Portugal. In this book, Josiah Blackmore considers how the sea and seafaring shaped literary creativity in early modern Portugal during the most active, consequential decades of European overseas expansion. Blackmore understands “literary” in a broad sense, including a diverse archive spanning genres and disciplines—epic and lyric poetry, historical chronicles, nautical documents, ship logs, shipwreck narratives, geographic descriptions, and reference to texts of other seafaring powers and literatures of the period—centering on the great Luís de Camões, arguably the sea poet par excellence of early modern Europe. Blackmore shows that the sea and nautical travel for Camões and his contemporaries were not merely historical realities; they were also principles of cultural creativity that connected to larger debates in the widening field of the maritime humanities. For Blackmore, the sea, ships, and nautical travel unfold into a variety of symbolic dimensions, and the oceans across the globe that were traversed in the fifteenth and sixteenth centuries correspond to vast reaches within the literary self. The sea and seafaring were not merely themes in textual culture but were also principles that created individual and collective subjects according to oceanic modes of perception. Blackmore concludes with a discussion of depth and sinking in shipwreck narratives as metaphoric and discursive dimensions of the maritime subject, foreshadowing empire’s decline.

Cultural Organizations, Networks and Mediators in Contemporary Ibero-America
Diana Roig-Sanz 2020-01-03 This book proposes an innovative conceptual framework to explore cultural organizations at a multilateral level and cultural mediators as key figures in cultural and institutionalization processes. Specifically, it analyzes the role of Ibero-American mediators in the institutionalization of Hispanic and Lusophone cultures in the first half of the 20th century by means of two institutional networks: PEN (the non-governmental writer's association) and the International Institute of Intellectual Cooperation (predecessor to UNESCO). Attempting to combine cultural and global history, sociology, and literary studies, the book uses an analytical focus on intercultural networks and cultural transfer to investigate the multiple activities and roles that these mediators and cultural organizations set in motion. Literature has traditionally studied major figures and important centers of cultural production, but other regions and localities also played a crucial role in the development of intellectual cooperation. This book reappraises the place of Ibero-America in international cultural relations and retrieves the lost history of key secondary actors. The book will appeal to scholars from international relations, global and cultural history, sociology, postcolonial Studies, world and comparative literature, and New Hispanisms.
