Atiyah and Adams' Sale of Goods Christian Twigg-Flesner 2021 "Once more, we were delighted to take on the task of updating this text for its 14th edition, having taken over editorial responsibilities from the late John Adams from the 13th edition. In our preface to the previous edition, we recorded the sudden passing of Professor Adams. Sadly, in this preface, we must note another passing: on 30 March 2018, Patrick Atiyah, who wrote the 1st-8th editions of this book and continues to give the book its name, passed away at the age of 87. Patrick was one of those giants of academic contract law whose contributions continue to be read and to inspire scholars everywhere. We are both mindful of our task to maintain the scholarly rigour which he gave to this book as we take it into the future. This edition is also the first time since the 9th edition without a Scottish editor. Professor Hector MacQueen had been responsible for adding Scottish content since the 10th edition (2001), but decided that he would discontinue this role after the 13th edition was published in 2016. We are very grateful for Hector's contributions to the work. On the advice of the book's publishers, this edition has been put together without the benefit of a Scottish editor, although we have, of course, continued to take decisions from the Scottish courts into account in updating the various chapters. Since the last edition was published, there have been few major developments in the law on the sale of goods, aside from the difficult ruling by the Supreme Court in PST Energy 7 Shipping LLC v OW Bunker Malta Ltd [2016] UKSC 23 (which arrived too late for proper consideration in the previous edition). We have updated the text in light of recent cases and academic writings where appropriate. Furthermore, we have continued our task of streamlining the running order of the chapters, and we have sought to make gentle updates to the language of the book, preserving its rigour but ensuring it remains accessible to a contemporary audience. In some instances, we have curtailed or removed altogether the detailed discussion of the pre-1994 case-law which had become redundant as a result of the changes made to the Sale of Goods Act at that time. The rise of digital technology and new business models in the digital economy will invariably have an impact on the law concerning the sale of goods, but at this point, the real impact is not yet known. In some places, we have alluded to the possible significance of digital technology, and this could well become a more significant theme in future editions"--

Secured Finance Law in China and Hong Kong Mark Williams 2010-10-14 This book examines systematically the current systems of secured lending in China and Hong Kong, where companies or individuals offer personal property as security for credit advanced by a lender. Valid and enforceable security reduces the risk to the lender and so lowers the cost of credit to the borrower. However, the Hong Kong system, being largely derived from English law, is highly complex and in need of root-and-branch reform. The forces of inaction have triumphed and valuable opportunities to create a modern, rational and efficient system have been squandered. In China, on the other hand, a completely new system has been created in the last twenty years which, whilst it has various problems and defects, has some notable advantages over the common law equivalent found in Hong Kong.

Casebook on Contract Law Professor of Commercial Law and Deputy Director of the Centre for Legal Research Jill Poole 2016-09-07 Jill Poole's bestselling Casebook on Contract Law provides students with a comprehensive selection of case law, addressing all aspects of the subject encountered on undergraduate courses. Extracts have been carefully chosen from a wide range of historical and contemporary cases to illustrate the reasoning processes of the courts, and to show how legal principles develop. Cases can either be analysed and discussed in isolation or, taken as a whole, the selection of cases form chapters providing a structured overview of the modern law of contract. Online Resource Centre The casebook is fully supported by an Online Resource Centre, which provides: - Self-test questions and answers - Guidance on answering questions in contract law - Exercises and guidance on reading cases - An opportunity for students to ask the author any questions

Consumer Sales Law John Macleod 2009-06-02 Fully updated and revised, this comprehensive and informative textbook provides readers with an overview of current consumer sales law and equips them with a view of how this fast-changing subject has, and will continue to develop through the inclusion of new reform proposals. This book analyzes the interaction of consumer sales law with politics, the appeal of consumer protection to politicians and the influence of the European Union and the EU Directives. It also discusses the removal of consumer sales law from its traditional realm of legal professionals to consumer and debt advisors and public officials with the power to seek injunctions to protect consumers. In addition to this, it: fully integrates both the Unfair Commercial Practices Directive 2005 and the Consumer Credit Act 2006 into the basic 1974 Act explains how the sale of Goods Act 1979 has been modified by the 1999 Directive combines the public protection of consumers under the Enterprise Act 2002 (e.g. Office of Fair Trading) is supplemented by comprehensive e-updates on its Companion Website, keeping the content current between editions. Written by an author with forty years experience of teaching sales and finance law to undergraduates, this textbook is an essential tool for all undergraduates studying commercial and consumer sales law.

Car Finance - a Simple Guide Graham Hill 2012-06-01 Why are so many people driving better cars than you? The answer is simple, they know how to finance a car! They've learned how to prepare themselves or their business for finance, resulting in the lowest possible finance rate. They know which type of finance gets them the best car their budget can afford. And finally, if things have gone wrong in the past, they haven't ended up with a black mark on their credit file, they've known exactly what to do in order to preserve their credit score, allowing them to finance a better car! That pretty much describes the contents of this simple to read and understand book, written by the world's top car finance blogger, Graham Hill. Type Car Finance Blog into Google or Yahoo and find <http://www.thebestcarfinanceblog.co.uk> at the top of the organic search list of well over 200 million. So what you may not find in the book there's probably a blog entry to cover it. There are articles on all types of car finance including, HP, PCP, contract hire, personal contract hire, personal loan, bank loan, car loan, car lease, finance lease and many more. The book consists of 3 sections, the first is preparing for finance. How many times have you spent hours looking for and test driving cars only to find that you've been declined for credit? Following some simple instructions and taking a few minutes before you even think about the car, could save a lot of heartache and actually improve your credit score, not only ensuring that you are offered credit but also at the very best rate! Graham Hill, understood the importance of making sure you knew where you stood in terms of credit. Before test driving cars, when he was an advisor to Yes Car Credit. This was the company that approved just about every applicant. In just 4 years they became the biggest seller of used cars in the UK. They were charging the highest prices and some of the highest APR's and yet they were selling close to 50,000 cars per annum. Why? Because before you walked onto one of their car pitches you knew you were approved for finance. Even people with good credit used Yes Car Credit because they knew they wouldn't be embarrassed when they talked about finance. Even better, not one single car that was sold had the price of the car on the windscreen, each car was sold on monthly cost and affordability. Section 2 covers some of the most popular forms of finance, describes how they work and what to look out for. You need to be very careful here. In Graham Hill's next book he describes over 40 different ways to finance a car, some great and others disgraceful as they are out and out cons. Surprisingly there are very few Government controls over the way that car finance is sold. There are 32 million cars registered in the UK, 8 million of which will be either sold as second hand or registered from new this year. And yet there are more controls over the selling of a £4 per month pet insurance policy than the finance on a £25,000 car.

Read and understand this section before deciding on the best route. Paying cash or taking out a loan from your bank are unlikely to always be the best methods of finance. Finally, part 3 is a large section about the thing that no one wants to discuss and certainly won't dwell upon when being sold the finance. What to do when things go wrong. First of all you need to know what can go wrong and the causes. You are told what precautions to take if you know that you can't make a payment. You also find out how a certain type of finance can help you if you have a problem with the car or with the dealer. It also shows how you can extract yourself from one type of finance by simply handing the car back to the finance company and how overcharging the early settlement of a lease agreement can allow you to extract yourself at no cost. The book is packed with important information, so don't waste time and buy the book NOW. Even if you don't intend changing your car for a couple of years, start to prepare immediately!

Cases & Materials on Criminal Law Michael T. Molan 2005 This new edition of Cases and Materials on Criminal Law has been thoroughly updated to provide a comprehensive selection of key materials drawn from law reports, legislation, Law Commission consultation papers and reports, and Home Office publications. Clear and highly accessible, this volume is presented in a coherent structure and provides full coverage of the topics commonly found in the criminal law syllabus. The range of thoughtfully selected materials and authoritative commentary ensures that this book provides an essential collection of materials and analysis to stimulate the reader and assist in the study of this difficult and challenging area of law. New features include: revised text design with clear page layout, headings and boxed and shaded sections to aid navigation and readability chapter introductions to highlight the salient features under discussion short chapter table of contents to enable easier navigation "Comments and Questions" sections to encourage students to reflect on their reading expanded further reading to encourage students to engage further with the subject a Companion Website to provide regular updates to the book. Recent decisions of note that are extracted and analysed include R v Kennedy (manslaughter based on supply of heroin); Attorney General for Jersey v Holley (provocation); R v Mark and R v Willoughby (elements of killing by gross negligence); R v Barnes (consent as a defence to sporting injuries); Attorney General's Reference (No 3 of 2004) (accessorial liability) and R v Hatton (intoxicated mistake in self defence cases). Consideration is also given to the likely changes to the law relating to corporate manslaughter, at the time of writing contained in the Corporate Manslaughter and Corporate Homicide Bill currently before Parliament. Two major law reform publications are extensively extracted and contextualised in this 4th edition - the Law Commission's report on Murder, Manslaughter and Infanticide (Law Com No 304) and the Law Commission's Report on Inchoate Liability for Assisting and Encouraging Crime (Law Com 300). This book is an invaluable reference for students on undergraduate or CPE/PG Diploma in Law criminal law courses, particularly those studying independently or on distance learning programmes.

Cfpb Supervision and Examination Manual Consumer Financial Protection Bureau 2015-01-19 Part 2 of 2

Today we are releasing Version 2 of the CFPB Supervision and Examination Manual, the guide our examiners use in overseeing companies that provide consumer financial products and services. Our manual, originally released in October 2011, describes how the CFPB supervises and examines these providers and gives our examiners direction on how to determine if companies are complying with consumer financial protection laws. We updated the supervision manual to reflect the renumbering of the consumer financial protection regulations for which the CFPB is responsible. The numbering conventions in the Code of Federal Regulations (CFR) allow the reader to easily identify which regulations fall under a particular agency's responsibility. The renumbering incorporated throughout the manual reflects the Dodd-Frank Act of 2010 transfer of rulemaking responsibility for many consumer financial protection regulations from other Federal agencies to the CFPB. In December 2011, the CFPB published its renumbered regulations in the Federal Register. The renumbered regulations also included certain technical changes but no substantive changes. The CFPB's renumbering reflects the codification of its regulations in Title 12 (Banks and Banking), Chapter X (Bureau of Consumer Financial Protection) of the CFR. For example, before July 21, 2011, the Federal Reserve had rulemaking authority for the Home Mortgage Disclosure Act, which was codified in Title 12, Chapter II (Federal Reserve System), Part 203. The CFPB's implementing regulation for the Home Mortgage Disclosure Act is now codified in Title 12, Chapter X, Part 1003.
